

ART IN THE US-JAPAN RELATIONSHIP: Preserving the Floating World

RICHARD J. WOOD ART CURATOR SERIES

Beyond his fame as the Pulitzer-Prize-winning author of Tales of the South Pacific and Hawaii, James A. Michener was an enthusiastic collector of fine art. He managed to assemble the third largest collection of ukiyo-e in the United States, which he donated to the Honolulu Museum of Art. Join us at The Maridon Museum to learn about Michener's collecting journey with Stephen Salel, Curator of Japanese Art.
